Credit Union of Georgia Supports Cobb Schools Foundation

On April 15, 2010, Credit Union of Georgia donated more than $5,000 to support the Cobb Schools Foundation, an organization dedicated to rewarding and enhancing educational opportunities for Cobb County School District staff and students by recognizing and rewarding excellence in teaching and learning, ensuring successful educational environments, and much more.

Credit Union of Georgia's donation will help fund and support the 2010 Classified Employee of the Year Luncheon, this year's Annual Cobb Homecoming Charity Golf Tournament, and Project 2400, which helps increase students' SAT scores.

Credit Union of Georgia proudly supports the Cobb Schools Foundation and extends a heartfelt thank you for all the Foundation does for Cobb County School District staff, students, and schools.

Credit Unions are member-owned, not-for-profit financial institutions that provide many of the same financial services that banks do, including checking and savings accounts, loans, mortgages, credit cards, home equity loans, and much more. However, they are uniquely different because any money made by the credit union is returned to its members/owners in the form of higher dividends and lower lending interest rates.

For 50 years, Credit Union of Georgia has been a part of the north metro Atlanta community. Credit Union of Georgia is one of the most stable financial institutions in the nation, according to Bauer's Financial Reports — an authority on financial institution stability.

As a state chartered credit union, Credit Union of Georgia is strictly regulated by the Department of Banking and Finance and the National Credit Union Administration, an agency of the U.S. government and insured by the National Credit Union Administration, NCUA.
