

United 1st Federal Credit Union Eastman Is Being Refurbished

The United 1st Member Service Center on College Street is being renovated and expanded. Ann Harrell, the Manager of the Member Service Center, said, "We opened in this location in 1996 and we haven't had an extensive renovation since. The number of members we serve has grown and we expect that to continue. CNN, CBS, FOX, and other media outlets are telling people what I have known for years: Credit unions are good for consumers."

Ms. Harrell went on to say, "This project will move the front door to what is now the side of the building and it will expand our interior space to give us more room to help our members. Our focus is member service and we need more room to serve more members. Everyone in Dodge, Telfair, Wilcox, and Wheeler Counties are eligible for membership. Our low loan rates make us a very attractive option for consumers. That is why Suze Orman recommends credit unions.”

Ed Walker, Director of Business Development, said, “Howe Construction has done numerous renovations of credit unions and we expect them to make our Member Service Center in Eastman a showcase for our credit union. We are not anticipating any break in our member service and we hope to not inconvenience anyone too much. There will be some dust but Ann and her crew have pledged to continue the great member service that makes them so well liked. I know Eastman will be proud of the end result. We hope to have the Grand Re-opening in July.”

Ms. Harrell invites all of Eastman to visit and see the architect’s plans.
