Atlanta Postal Credit Union Announces Scholarship Winners

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE . . . May 3, 2010, Atlanta, Georgia

Each year, Atlanta Postal Credit Union (APCU) awards three $1,000 scholarships to young members who demonstrate academic excellence, citizenship, and credit union participation. APCU's Youth Member Development Scholarship reflects the credit union's belief that education is the foundation that helps young members build a strong, financially sound future.

The winners of Atlanta Postal Credit Union's 2010 Youth Member Development Scholarship are: Shawn Spitzer of Robbinsville, NC who plans to attend Appalachian State University and study Music; Sarah Williams of Rock Hill, SC who is still selecting which college she will be attending, will be majoring in Elementary Education; and Paul Glidewell of Jackson, GA plans on attending University of Georgia and majoring in Political Science.

"Paying for college gets more and more expensive every year. Through our yearly scholarship competition, we are able to help our younger members afford a specialized education that will aide them in achieving their future successes," stated Bud Wilkinson, APCU Director and Scholarship Review Panel Chairman.

About Atlanta Postal Credit Union

A full-service financial institution, Atlanta Postal Credit Union was chartered by the state of Georgia in 1925 to serve the employees of the United States Postal Service.
