

3900 Crown Road
Atlanta, GA 30380-0001
E-mail: info@apcu.com

(404) 768-4126
(800) 849-8431
Web site: www.apcu.com

PRESS RELEASE

For More Information:
Dianne Yost
Senior Vice President/Marketing
(404) 768-5947, dyost@apcu.com

Atlanta Postal Credit Union Celebrates Youth Week

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE . . . May 4, 2010, Atlanta, Georgia

Every year, Atlanta Postal Credit Union (APCU) teams with Credit Unions from around the country to celebrate National Credit Union Youth Week. National Credit Union Youth Week is held annually during the month of April and provides Credit Unions with the opportunity to promote youth membership and good money management skills.

Each year a theme is selected for Youth Week. This year's theme was "Get In The Savings Game". To celebrate Youth Week, APCU decorated their branches with Youth Week themed balloons, posters, candy, pencils, and decorations. All youth members who made a deposit to their Primary Share Account during the month of April each received a blue coin purse and thank you note from Atlanta Postal Credit Union.

"Our young members are very important to us. We would like our younger members to develop an awareness of their credit union at an early age. In addition, we want to encourage them to start building good saving habits as early as possible, because the habits they learn today, will stay with them a lifetime", stated Don DeCinque, President and CEO of Atlanta Postal Credit Union.

About Atlanta Postal Credit Union

A full-service financial institution, Atlanta Postal Credit Union was chartered by the state of Georgia in 1925 to serve the employees of the United States Postal Service. The credit union is the oldest credit union in Georgia and the largest postal credit union in the nation with assets in excess of $1.9 billion. It is a leader in providing both lending and deposit products to over 99,000 members via its six branches, one in Macon and five in Atlanta; and via its Internet Web site at www.apcu.com. The main office is located at 3900 Crown Road, Atlanta, GA 30380-0001.